In August, we began to read the book of Numbers and will continue reading it the first three weeks of September. As we begin the month in chapter 13, Moses sends a few spies into the land that God has promised the Israelites to scout it out for the upcoming invasion. Most of the spies come back in a panic, forgetting that God has already given them the land. This leads to a revolt, with the people refusing to take the land. God gives them their wish, decreeing that the whole generation will die in the wilderness, except for Caleb and Joshua, and the land will be taken by their children.

Judges is the book for the last week of September. In it, we read about the ups and downs of the Israelites as they navigate life in The Promised Land: their periods of faithfulness and periods of unfaithfulness to God; their captivity from nearby nations and times of freedom and peace. Get ready for the roller coaster ride!
